

Dutch Flat Enquirer.

E. B. BOUST, EDITOR.
TUESDAY, AUG. 27, 1863.

PACIFIC TURNPIKE.—We have just conversed with one of the gentlemen engaged in the Pacific Turnpike company who informs us that the opening of the public travel will not take place until the first of October next, the operations of the company have been retarded somewhat by meeting with granite rock on the line of their road, which has prevented the completion of the enterprise some fifteen days. However, this is but a short delay when the immense advantages to be derived to our people from the opening of the road are taken into consideration.

We had the pleasure of meeting in our town on Sunday last Mr. Hardy of Auburn Station and G. W. Webster Esq. of Forest Hill. They were just returning from a trip across the mountains, where Mr. Hardy had been on business connected with his extensive forwarding house at the Station. He tells us that as soon as the Dutch Flat and Donner Lake is completed he will commence forwarding all freight intended for Nevada Territory over the road. Both gentlemen agree in representing this route far superior to the Placerville route, and appear sanguine that a large majority of the travel will come this way as soon as the road is open.

In this place, we would again call the attention of our people to the absolute necessity of taking some action about connecting the town with several roads that are being completed in our vicinity. It requires but a small exertion on our part to place our town directly on the main thoroughfare of these great highways now, and be the recipients of the great and profitable travel which will soon flow this way; advantages which are not to be neglected by those who are at all knowing to the profits to be derived therefrom. We look at this matter entirely in a business light, and the more avenues of communication opened to and from our town the greater the advantages to the business and brighter the future prospects of the place. It would need but a small outlay now to connect ourselves with these roads, but by delaying the matter until the travel becomes settled, shops and hotels become erected on the immediate line of the road for the accommodation of travelers, wait until this is done, and these places become established, and we throw all chance away of ever becoming successful competitors for any portion of the enormous trade which we should command, and by right of location should have. Then, those who are now acting lukewarm in this matter, or are throwing impediments in the way of its accomplishment, will find out to their cost what they have allowed to slip by them, those especially who have erected substantial business houses here should see that an effort is made to accomplish this object. The owners of real estate who whine at an expense for aiding any enterprise calculated to benefit the town, "I don't expect to stay here; I want to sell out," appear to us striving to ruin themselves. Don't they know that by bringing the travel through town that they increase the value of their property, create more business, induce a large outlay of capital in our midst, and thereby enhance their chances of disposing of their property at larger prices when they have an opportunity of "selling out?" They doubtless know all this, but are too closely wedded to the "almighty dollar" to loosen their hold upon their gods; if they thought half as much of their Creator as their actions induce us to think they do of a piece of silver, they would all be saints of the purest order. We are glad to know that we have but few of this class among us, while there are a number of those noble spirited ones here who are ever ready with their purse and counsel to aid in improving the town in every manner possible. Hereafter, we intend publishing the list of subscribers for enterprises of this nature so that all can see who are really friends to the prosperity of the town, and who are willing to share the benefits resulting from the outlay of their neighbors' money while they steadily refuse all participation in the work themselves. This will enable our people to know who to patronize and encourage, and who to leave hopelessly waiting for customers.

THAT COLLECTION.—As the statement made in the ENQUIRER two weeks ago of the fact that a collection was taken up at a political meeting for the benefit of J. E. Vinton, has been doubted, we here state, by authority, that the same was done; that the sum of sixteen dollars and fifty cents was collected at Iowa Hill at the meeting which was addressed by said Vinton, and that the same was paid to him the next morning. That the collection was taken up exclusively for Vinton's benefit, and that it was done at the suggestion of Charles A. Tuttle, who recommended that course in two or three letters written to gentlemen of Iowa Hill and vicinity. This was done too, at the time that Judge Hale was paying the traveling expenses of this abolition mendicant. The truth of the statement can be had by any who may doubt it by applying at this office. The statement that the money was raised to pay the Union Brass Band of that place is a vile fabrication and without the least foundation. What do the disunion admirers of howling Vinton now think of his vaunted pretenses to honor and honesty?

PROMOTED.—At a meeting of the officers of 2nd battalion, 1st Regiment, 4th Brigade convened by order of Brigadier General Collins, the officers of the battalion met at Auburn on Saturday last for the purpose of filling the vacancy caused by the death of Major Wm. R. Longley, Captain C. M. Kopp was elected Major of the battalion. We are glad to chronicle the promotion of Captain Kopp. It is not always the case that honors fall on the shoulders of the most deserving, but in this case it has done so—he is a worthy gentleman and an efficient officer, and we doubt not will fill the position to which he has been elected with honor to himself and satisfaction to those whose choice has elevated him. This is a compliment which the members of the Pacific Guard may justly feel a pride in, and the emulation which it should create in the ranks, render each competent to take charge of a regiment, should occasion require it.

FALSE ISSUES.—We have not heard a single Republican harangue or read a single paragraph emanating from a Republican source of a political nature, but accused the Democratic party of being in league, either openly or clandestinely, with the leaders of the Southern Rebellion.

They stigmatize each individual member of the party opposed to their way of settling this difficulty as traitors and cowards; they heap all the vile epithets and contumely they are capable of commanding upon all—no matter what single act of the Administration is objected to as being unjust. They address the people apparently for the purpose of insulting them, one portion for the reason that they differ with them in sentiment, and the other portion, whom they term their friends by endeavoring to strain down their throats, whether or no, the means and most improbable fallacies. The majority of the speakers of the Republican party class all Democrats as secessionists—as men who are exerting their entire influence for the success of the Rebels. Only a day or two since, their principle organ in this State, the San Francisco Herald, published a long article, headed "The Republicans of the Pacific," in which they stated to the people that Jeff Davis had sent to the Democracy of this State five million dollars for the purpose of controlling this election. This ridiculous falsehood is copied by other papers in the same cause and added to the same purpose of the party in different sections. Now, we think a statement similar to the above should be sufficient to insult any man who lays any claim to common sense. The idea that Jeff Davis' government is able to give any sum to control an election when he has been unable to control the labor of the organs of the Republican party to induce us to believe the Confederate Government bankrupt, when they are giving thousands of dollars for their worthless scrip for a barrel of flour, while they are suffering for want of proper clothing and the most common necessities of life, which the present government has been unable to supply for want of means, they trump up the improbable lie that the rebels are trying to control this State. Suppose for a moment this State should secede tomorrow, what possible good would result to the rebels? The Confederate Government is not able to—so it appears—to take care of itself, what then, could it do with California, situated two thousand miles from their scene of action? How long could they expect to hold any portion of the State, even were our people willing? Certainly not three months. But they have started in to deceive the people and they do not intend to be baffled in their object no matter what measures have to be resorted to. Their speeches and anathemas are all well enough so far as secession is concerned, and the Democrats—who were the first to oppose the war—very heartily join them, they say, "Secessionists are endorsing your platform, therefore you must be secessionists!" Shades of Jefferson and Webster! Was there ever anything advanced by men who claimed a retention of their seats so utterly without truth as the secessionists reason? With as much decency could they be charged as Abolitionists, Spirit-rappers, and Free-lovers, because all those who hold sentiments in common with these classes endorse the Republican platform. We maintain in all truth and honesty that the Democratic party is the only party which can successfully settle this difficulty with a complete and substantial restoration of all the States to the Union; it is the only party which has ever had an organization that eschewed local and sectional doctrines, always adhering to measures which would benefit the greatest number. It was the Democratic party that favored the policy of the acquisition of the Territory of Louisiana, thus opening to the entire West the free passage of the Mississippi river, under a strong opposition from the secessionists, the advocates of the present Republican party; it advocated the admission of Texas and the acquisition of New Mexico, it acquired the rich territory of California and Arizona under Democratic doctrine, and in the face of the immense opposition that was brought to bear by the present party, and those who now accuse this party of being at enmity with the welfare of this government which it has maintained and exalted as the first among the nations of the earth. Can those men be true who are endeavoring to provoke private and sectional animosities among a people of a common country? Is it that party to be trusted that would wrest from the common people the rights of the ballot-box by intimidating voters in armed squads as sanctioned by the Loyal Leagues under the guidance of the Republican party? Weigh these things well, and dispassionately. Look at our country! The citizens of which were once so happy and peaceful, now distracted and arrayed against each other in deadly strife, and ask yourselves if you can support men for office whose doctrines have brought about such an awful change in our national affairs? Or will you give your support to men who have ever been true to the country and loyal to the Constitution, as set forth by the records and measures advocated by the Democracy.

JUDGE TOLSON spoke to a large and appreciative audience in this place last night. To say that the speech was a good one would not be saying half enough. It was well received, and those who listened to it will long remember the sound and logical commentaries made upon the Constitution, and the comparison of the doctrine of a strict adherence to that bulwark of the liberties of the people with the reckless course pursued by the Administration. He stripped the flimsy and untenable tenets of the Republican faith of their covering, and laid bare in all their deformity the miserable corrupt, and ruinous principles advocated by them. The speech was many times the rank of the party in power to thinking seriously of the mistaken policy of the Administration in the present great struggle. His arguments were unanswerable, and his reasoning and authorities such as to carry conviction to the minds of all who heard him. His preparation was indeed grand and eloquent, the concluding part of which being truly sublime, keeping his hearers spell-bound until the last word was pronounced.

MR. HIGBY, one of the Republican candidates for Congress spoke in this place to a respectable audience on Tuesday evening last. Mr. Higby made the best Republican speech we have heard of during the campaign. He was attentively listened to during his speech by Republicans and Democrats, showing a marked difference of the treatment of Republicans by Democrats, and vice versa; one being courteous and kind, and the other rude and uncouth. Mr. Higby was the one from whom the Democrats appeared to understand the principles of the Republicans, to which they appeared to give a decided dissent. His defense of the measures of the Administration was similar to others of the same ilk, stigmatizing all who differed with them in opinion as "traitors, rebels," &c., going as far as to say that all who refused to hold the Republican ticket would be guilty of perjury. Surely, unhappy days are overtaking us; when Americans can no longer be allowed to teach the most progress, Mr. James intends teaching another term, when all should attend.

THE citizens of Dutch Flat are requested to meet at the Golden Eagle Hall this evening at 7 o'clock, to receive the report of the committee. A full attendance is requested.

WATKINS SCHOOL.—The first term of Mr. James' writing school closes on Saturday evening next, when the parents of the children are requested to be present. There will also be premiums distributed among those who have made the most progress. Mr. James intends teaching another term, when all should attend.
